Bloomer Girls

LUELLA CONLY AND ANNIE PINCH HIKING ROUND THE WORLD GIVE US GO-BY.

The San Francisco Bulletin says: Miss Luella Conly and Miss Annie Pinch, the Eastern newspaper girls who are going around the world on a news-gathering tour for several large papers left San Francisco for Shanghai last night. They go from here to Gray's Harbor, where they take the barkentine Hawaii for the Chinese port. Both were enthusiastic admirers of San Francisco, and announced their intention of coming here to live after their tour.

"This is the greatest town we have struck," said Miss Conly. "We have been beautifully treated everywhere along the route, but nowhere have we found such delightful people amid such interesting surroundings. We shall send some good write-ups of this place to our Eastern papers. And the way we have been forwarded on our journey has been simply miraculous."

"At first it looked a bit dubious, especially after we had conferred with that good man, Dr. Drew of the quarantine service who has been in the Orient, a great deal. We found that in Korea, if you are bitten by one bug, you get sleeping sickness, fatal; if by another, you get typhus or something of the kind, and smallpox just runs around loose. But the climax came when we found we must cut off our hair and dress as boys to travel there with any safety at all. And we must have Rambler bicycles, because all the missionaries have them and because the horses there will eat you up, just like wild animals, and we must have a shotgun in plain sight, because nobody carrying a gun has ever been attacked by the robbers, who are as thick as flies."

"Well, what do you think of this. Without a word from us Mr. Rolph of the shipping firm of Hing, Rolph & Co., volunteered to give us passage on the good ship Hawaii for the very port we wanted to reach. And we did so want to go on a sailing vessel. It will be such a lark. And then the Southern Pacific arranged to get us to Gray's Harbor. Then the Winchester Arms people must have heard we needed a shotgun, for they sent us one of their latest repeaters with plenty of cartridges. If you hear of great slaughter among the Korean bandits its us. And to crown it all we were supplied with Rambler bicycles by the wholesalers here. By the terms of the trip we have to pay our way as we go along and we couldn't possibly have done all these things inside of months if all these kind people hadn't helped us out. If you want to find out how many lovely folks there are in this world just start out around it and look for them. San Francisco is full of them."

Japan is the first objective point of the travelers, and their first foreign "stuff" will concern the homecoming of the Mikado's army.

A SERVICE OF "SONGS THAT HELP"

A WORLD-WIDE RELIGIOUS EFFORT PROMULGATED THROUGH THE EPWORTH LEAGUE.

During this month, all over the world services of song are being held in which the songs sung are "songs that help." The idea was promulgated through the Epworth League and the Christian Endeavor, and has been widely taken up. These "songs that help" are such songs taken from the whole Christian hymnology, as have been found particularly helpful either to individuals or classes, or at particular times.

Last Sunday such a service was held at the Methodist church. Another will be held shortly in Central Union church. Tomorrow one will be held at Oahu Prison under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. It will be in charge of John M. Martin, with Stanley Livingston as chorister and Mrs. H. S. Ewing as organist. The program is as follows:

COURSING FOR THE MONGOOSE

ZOO MANAGEMENT HAS TAKEN UP A LINE OF SPORT WHICH MAY DEVELOPE GOOD RESULTS

The Zoo people have opened up with a new line of enterprise and are going to aid poultry raisers in the extermination of the arch enemy of chickens—the mongoose.

As every one knows, coursing is practically a national sport in Ireland and for that matter in England too. The Irish have imported the sport to California and no person who has not seen a Sunday coursing match at either Ingleside or Union park can fully qualify as an observer of all the phases of San Francisco life.

The management of the Honolulu Zoo has taken up a proposition of almost a parallel nature with a simply utilitarian idea. Instead of hunting the jack-rabbits which destroy the Californian orchards, they will use mongoose as their quarry and it is expected that not only will there be sport developed but that the efforts will aid materially in reducing the numbers of the pests.

Certainly to every sporting man who loves coursing—and there is not a man with a drop of Irish blood in his veins who does not—the development of a sport from the good old game under new conditions and with a new object will be of a great interest. It is possible, of course, that it may not turn out successfully but the zoo will make an attempt at it anyhow and will offer three prizes for the best mongoose-killing dogs that come to the fore. There is more than a possibility that a new and extraordinarily useful game may be built up.
